DAVIS THEATRE.

Last Chance to See Charlie Chaplin in His Trysting Places, Two-Real Keystone.

Do your Christmas shopping early today, then come right up Broadway and stop in at the Davis and see Charlie Chaplin and Mabel Normand in the two-act comedy, "Trysting Places." There isn't a minute during the whole two thousand feet of this film that does not contain laughs and fun. Charlie Chaplin is known all over the world as the funniest man that ever appeared on a picture screen and in the comedy today he does some of the funniest stunts imaginable. That is the reason he is always popular. He is a man who never can tell what his next funny stunt he is going to do. Dough and Dynamite was thought by some to be as the greatest comedy ever made, but when you see this one you will forget all about the other. This two-reel will be shown at all three performances today and no one should miss it. In the vaudeville there is a collection of acts that have been themselves up to the standard during the past two days. Marius and Clemence are the top-notch comedians ever heard here. Terrence Rose has a neat violin specialty and she plays well with whistling and a few other acts. The other act is Smith and Harvey, a clever pair of entertainers, who do a singing and dancing act that is a real winner. The remainder of the bill is made up of Mutual Movies and shows. Our vaudeville act for the first half of next week a special attractive bill has been booked with three good acts, including Bobby Leach, the only man who has ever gone over Niagara Falls and lived to tell the tale. In the second half there is the Mutual War Weekly and another Charlie Chaplin comedy and it's a scream. Matinee today, 2:30, 5, 7 and 9 o'clock. Children to see Charlie. It will do you good to hear them laugh.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Tom Moore and Alice Joyce in Fate's Midnight Hour, Today.

Following the late custom of the management of the Colonial Theatre in presenting a vaudeville program, Alice Joyce feature at the Saturday shows, there will be seen today the splendid and perfectly timed comedy, "Fate's Midnight Hour," a superb film of the type that is different. For the lovers of the western features, there will be seen today the splendid and perfectly timed comedy, "Fate's Midnight Hour," a superb film of the type that is different. For the lovers of the western features, there will be seen today the splendid and perfectly timed comedy, "Fate's Midnight Hour," a superb film of the type that is different.

At the Auditorium this afternoon and evening the vaudeville program will open with Till's Manikens, a very amusing little vaudeville novelty and a fine act for the children. In the matinee performance, Roddy and LeRoy come next on the bill, and this consists of a gentleman and lady of class and style who do a very neat act on the singing, dancing and talking order and win much applause for their fine and pleasing play. In the evening performance, the vaudeville comes with Roddy and Tillman in a ripping acrobatic novelty which brings down the house with much laughter at every performance. On the picture programme today the Animated Weekly shows some highly interesting views, including many taken in the center of the war zone. The Witch Girl, a two-reel drama, with Mary Fuller in the leading role, is the feature picture and is receiving much favorable comment. The Barber Shop Fiasco and Charlie West's Vivian and two corking good comedies complete the bill.

For Monday of next week three fine vaudeville acts have been secured and for the last three days of the week a special Christmas bill has been booked, including Les Bino, a man and woman who do an equilibrium novelty. These are two local people whose correct name is Charles and who have been working throughout the United States and Europe for the past two years. Their many friends will be glad to welcome them home for the holidays. On Friday, Dec. 25th, four complete shows will be given, two in the afternoon and two in the evening.

Another serial picture to be shown every other Monday and Tuesday will be started on the first two days of next week and is entitled "Terrence O'Rourke, Gentlemen Adventurer," a society drama by Louis Joseph Vance, author of "The Grey Heron," "The J. Warren Kerrigan, the handsome man in motion pictures, in the leading role. The title of the first installment is "His Hand, His Heart, His Sword," and depicts a beautiful story of a refined gentleman adventurer.

Almost Unanimous.
The German Crown Prince is quoted as calling it a stupid, senseless war, and he has been having our neutrality questioned, we are disposed to agree with this diagnosis.—Manchester Union.

My grandpa used to give me "Birds and Nature," a delightful magazine with colored pictures. I remember one of the pictures. I remember I got the idea that they were spiky and sharp and never realized how nice they are until the other night. I was at their best they must be very soft and almost ready to fall from their bright tomato like skins.

The nearest thing to what we could compare the taste is a ripe apricot. The dried fruit will give you a poor idea of the sweet sun ripened fresh apricots.
